The Real Suffrage Thought of Women

Motherhood is the thought uppermost in woman's mind. And with it, of course, comes the question of control of her own life and influences. Among the best of these is a well-known external remedy, "Mother's Friend," at any drug store. Simply apply it over the stomach muscles and rest assured of perfect safety and comfort day and night. NEW SHIP ARMOR WILL DEFY MINES

Washington Inventor Has Scheme to Protect Vessels From Undersea Attacks.

Plans for the construction of battleships that will defy submarines, torpedoes, mines and even high explosive shells, have been perfected after months of work by Louis Gathmann, the Washington naval engineer, whose devices for long-range firing have been used extensively by Germany in the present war.

Not only will his new equipment protect battleships, he said today, but it is entirely practicable to equip merchantmen and great ocean liners with it, so that a repetition of the Lusitania sinking would be impossible. Germany's newest dreadnaughts already are constructed on a triple hull system invented by Mr. Gathmann. He submitted a plan to the Navy Department here in 1908, he said, but the department would not give it consideration.

"I submitted it in 1908 to the German government," he continued, "and their dreadnaughts now are constructed according to my specifications. But the weakness of the new dreadnaughts is that at close range (three miles) their armor belt may be pierced with semi-armored-piercing high-explosive shells, which explode inside the vessel."

His newer method, Mr. Gathmann explained, is a marked improvement in that it also can defy armor-piercing shells at any range.

This fact sets at rest the fear that the construction of a uniform similar to that of a submarine, which would have been a necessity if they are to be of any value to the fighting force of a nation. Battleships constructed according to my plans could withstand any sort of submarine attacks, and could even force the submarines to surface. Mr. Gathmann will not outline his new device fully until he submits it to the House and Senate naval committees when Congress convenes.

Important Ruling on Section of Income Tax

An important ruling upon paragraph B of the income tax law was handed down today by the Treasury Department. In effect it is held that no deduction is to be made for wages, salaries, rents, and other items of similar nature, income arising since March 1, 1913, when the law went into effect, may be deducted. Under paragraph B unless they have been included in the returns of gross income, they are not to be deducted. It is not clear from the order just how worthless is to be ascertained.

It was further ruled that all allowances that became due prior to March 1, 1913, and not ascertained to be worthless prior to that date, whether representing income or a return of capital, are deductible, under paragraph B.

New Invention Gives Motion Picture A Stereoscopic Effect.

One of the most difficult things to do with the camera is to reproduce in one picture a clear idea of perspective—to make the figures stand in relief away from their backgrounds as they do in real life. This is accomplished with a stereoscope, where two photographs are used. The search for a means to produce a picture of stereoscopic type in a single print has been going on for years, and it is now announced that Edwin S. Porter, one of the experts of the Famous Players company, in conjunction with W. E. Waddell, of the Edison company, have succeeded in doing this. An exhibition of film made by the Porter-Waddell method was recently given to a group of photoplay experts at the Astor Theater in New York.

Just how soon the invention will be used in the production of pictures for the regular market has not been decided, although Mr. Porter believes that the day of such a development may not be far off. Talking to trade paper representatives prior to the exhibition, he made clear his confidence in stereoscopic photography.

In a brief introductory address, delivered from the stage on behalf of Messrs. Porter and Waddell, it was announced that the long sought after third dimension in photography had been gained. Whereas breadth and height are registered in the customary photograph, depth, or a true perspective representing objects precisely as they appear to the eye, is necessarily lacking. Without going into the laws of optics, it may be noted that a stereoscope is a binocular optical instrument by means of which two pictures appear as one and stand out in relief. The problems facing the adapters of the principle to motion photography were two-fold—that of throwing a picture on the screen which might be reflected to the audience in stereoscopic form and that of adapting the film used to a standard projection machine.

After experiments covering a period of nearly ten years, Messrs. Porter and Waddell have succeeded not only in producing a stereoscopic picture, but one that may be run through any machine in the ordinary manner. Until this had been accomplished the invention (to be protected by a patent) was withheld as commercially impracticable. Obviously, the next step in placing the three-dimensional picture on a marketable basis is that of making it visible on the screen to the naked eye.

Each member of the audience at the Astor Theater was provided with glasses, green for the right eye, red for the left. Any transparent material properly colored serves the purpose, so the expense of furnishing an audience with the required equipment need not be great. Holding these glasses before the eyes one gains a truly stereoscopic effect that is nothing short of startling in its likeness. The screen seems to be brought to within a few feet of the onlooker and the objects, animate and inanimate, stand out in correct perspective, quite as though the vision were centered on an actual room, a landscape, or whatever the subject may be.

FOOTMAN WORE SUIT TOO LIKE SOLDIER'S

Capt. Stockbridge Causes Arrest of German Whose Clothes Resembled U. S. Uniform.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Capt. Morton G. Stockbridge, of the Forty-seventh Regiment, Brooklyn, caused the arrest of Norbert Kulla, thirty-two years, on a charge of violation of section 238 of the United States military laws, which forbids the wearing of a uniform similar to that used in the United States army.

Stockbridge, in citizen's clothes, saw Kulla, dressed in a khaki uniform standing at the curb. He spoke to Kulla, who answered with a German accent. He said he was a footman for Count Lymar, but the crowd grew so threatening that he called on Traffic Policeman Kraft to arrest Kulla. He was taken to the West Thirtieth street station followed by a large and disorderly crowd, which still thought Kulla an American soldier.

The prisoner was taken before Magistrate Barlow, and held in $500 bail for further examination.

Suffrage Missionary To Aid Work in West

Miss Joy Webster, treasurer of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, has been relieved by Mrs. Robert Brage in order that she could do special missionary work in Western States. Miss Webster has left for Portland, Ore., where she will assist in the work. Other members of the union intend to leave for San Francisco to attend the convention of women voters of the twelve suffrage States to be held there this fall.

The union today was informed the suffrage "caravans," led by Miss L. S. Trax, secretary of the Just Government League, will complete an eight-day tour of Montgomery county, Md., with open-air meetings at Silver Spring, at 6:45 and Takoma Park at 8:15 tomorrow night.

Dr. Osler On Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practical Medicine" (1902), on page 210: "The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacteria have been found. In the granulation products and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

The success of Eckman's Alternative in tuberculosis may be due partly to its content of a lime salt in combination with other valuable ingredients so that it is easily assimilated.

It is worth a trial, unless other treatment already is succeeding. We make no promise concerning it any more than do reputable physicians with their prescriptions, but since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe.
